

Feel Confident Serving Food After Routine Temperature Tests

Ensure your restaurant meets food code regulations with a convenient way to clean temperature probes during daily operations.

Protect the integrity of your food during temperature tests with PURELL® Thermometer Probe Wipes. These wipes are designed to remove food particles between safety checks to ensure that ingredients are not being passed from dish to dish. Wipes are formulated with food contact-safe ingredients so you can remain in compliance with food code regulations and food-contact surface cleaning protocols.

- Proven to not impact the taste or smell of food that has been temperature tested.
- Effectively removes food soils on up to three thermometer probes with just one wipe.
- Formulated with food-contact safe ingredients.

Each wipe is packaged in an individual sachet to provide convenience and make sure they are easily accessible when you need to temp food.
