

IMPORTANT NOTE: DIMENSIONS, TOLERANCES, WEIGHTS, COLOR REPRESENTATION

Floor matting products made with vinyl or rubber compounds tend to vary in size during and after production. Compounds actually stay active during the curing process, even as the finished products are packaged and stored. This is a normal chemical process. The tolerances in size (plus or minus dimension) can vary 5-8%.

Sizes referenced for sale are 'standard industry sizes' and are approximations only, i.e. 3'x5', but the actual dimension could be different. If exact dimensions are required, please communicate with your supplier so that arrangements can be made to accommodate your request.

Weights are also approximations and do vary in production runs. Color representations on line as well as printed matter are not intended to be used for exact color match. These mediums do not accurately represent the actual color of the product and is provided for general selection only. If same dye lot material is required or color selection is critical, please request a sample and/or communicate with your supplier.
